LATEST WAR MAP OF EUROPE,

AS SEEN THROUGH FRENCH EYES.

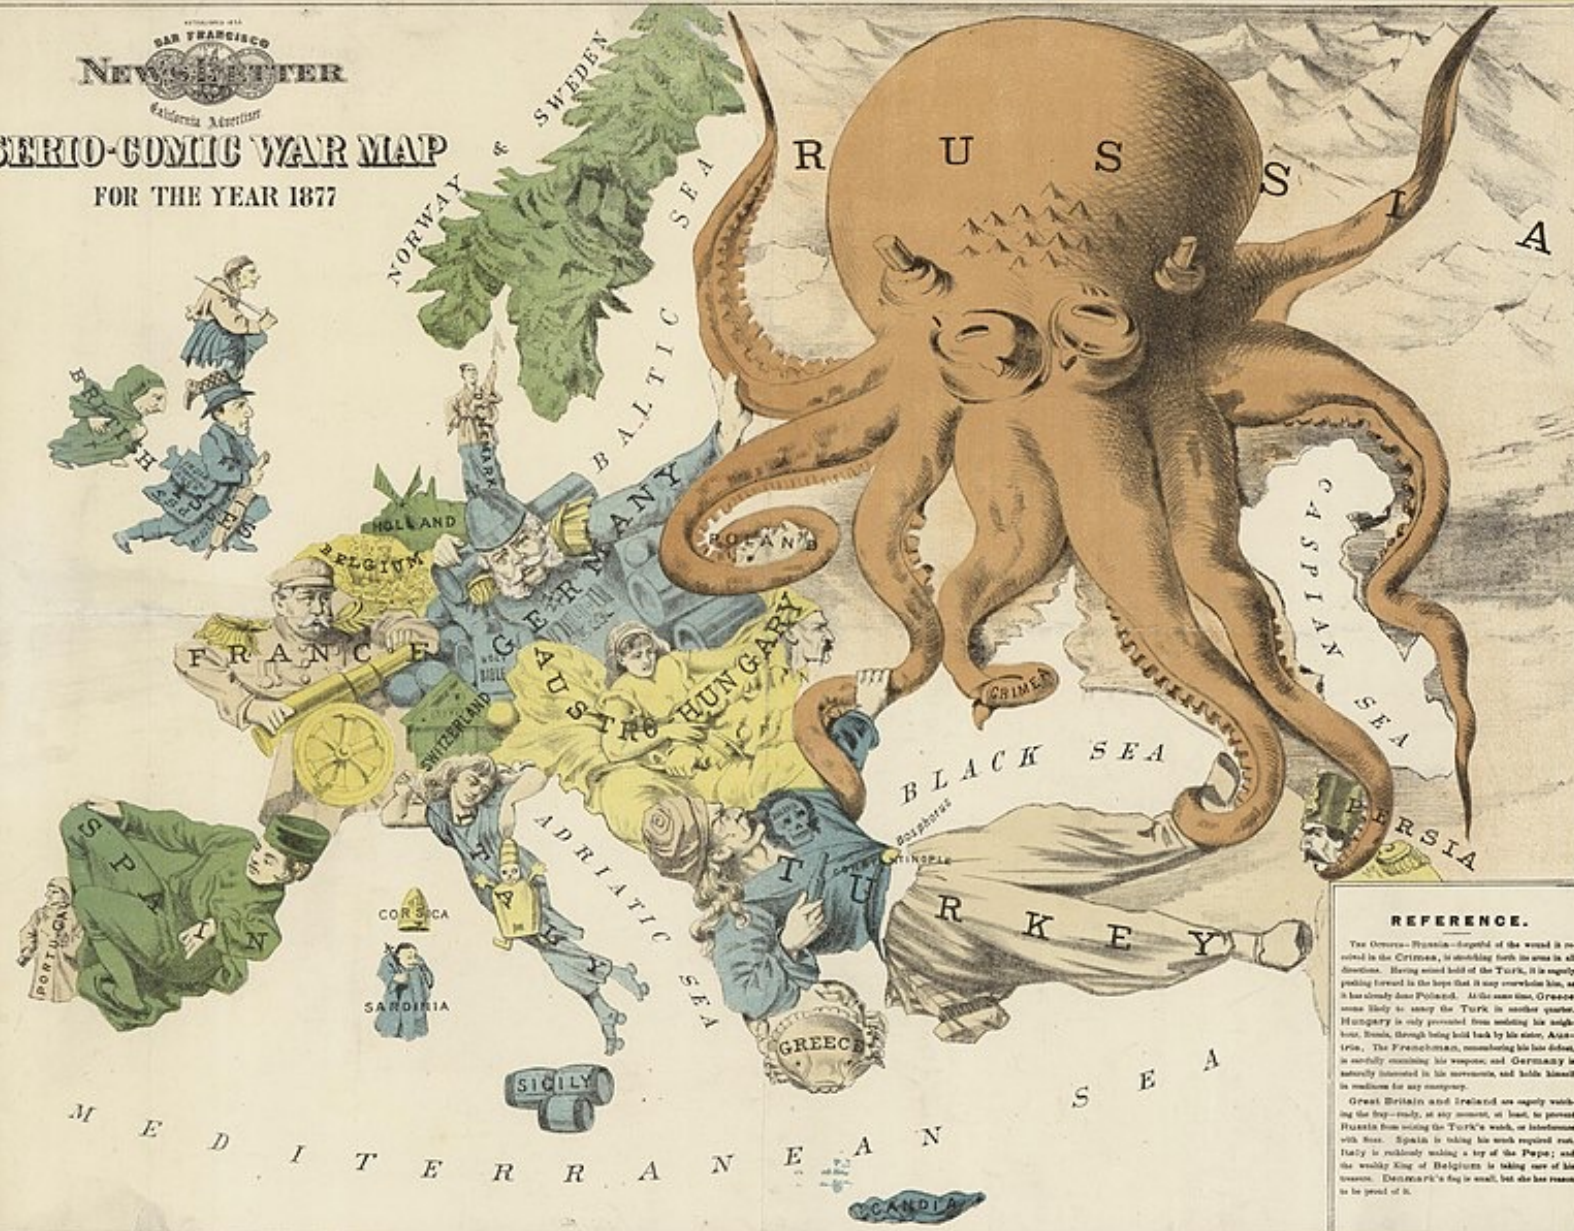

Britannia, isolated, full of Rage almost forgets Ireland. Spain, Smoking, leans on poor Portugal. France fighting the Invader, Prussia, which stretches one hand towards Holland the other towards Austria. Italy says to Bismark, "Take off your foot." Corsica and Sardinia, a little Joker, laughs over everything. Denmark lost his legs in Holstein, hoping to retake them again. European Turkey yawns and awakens. Asiatic Turkey sucks her Hookah. Sweden bounds a la Panther; and Russia resembles a rag-picker, waiting his chance to fill his basket.

SERIO-COMIC WAR MAP
 FOR THE YEAR 1877

REFERENCE.

The Octopus—Russia—length of the word it received in the Crimea, it stretching forth its arms in all directions. Having seized hold of the Turk, it is eagerly pushing forward in the hope that it may overtake him, as it has already done Poland. At the same time, Greece seems likely to escape the Turk in another quarter. Hungary is only prevented from seeking his neighbor, Prussia, through being held back by his sister, Austria. The Frenchman, remembering his late defeat, is carefully examining his weapons, and Germany is naturally interested in his movements, and holds himself in readiness for any emergency.

Great Britain and Ireland are eagerly watching the fray—ready, at any moment, at least, to prevent Prussia from seizing the Turk's weak, or interfering with him. Spain is taking his work required now. Italy is reluctantly making a try of the Pope; and the weakly King of Belgium is taking care of his own affairs. Denmark's flag is small, but she has reason to be proud of it.
